

Abstract

Advocating for Extension: Storytelling

by Allisen Penn

Stories are one way to market and advocate for the Cooperative Extension Service. Everyone can relate to a story. A good story can educate, inspire, entertain or influence others. This lesson summarizes reasons for telling organizational stories, types of stories and how you can begin developing an Extension advocacy story.